Labor Research Colloquium

A Lecture Series Sponsored by the UO Labor Education & Research Center
Spring 2018

February 28th, 2018 • 4 – 5 pm
Eileen Otis, Associate Professor, Sociology.
Walmart in China: How are Chinese workers confronting the world’s largest company?

April 18th, 2018 • 4 – 5
Lola Loustaunau, PhD student, Sociology.
Organizing multiethnic, multilingual workers with insecure legal status: challenges and lessons from an intensive campaign in the Portland food industry.

May 16th, 2018 • 4 – 5
Bob Bussel, LERC Director and Professor, History.
Anti-racist union education in the post-WWII era: learning from history how working people’s art and education can serve to counter racism and intolerance.

All lectures will be held at the ERB Memorial Union, Miller Room on the University of Oregon campus.